

Chapter 1

Teaching Software Project Management	1
Kasi Periyasamy, University of Wisconsin – La Crosse, USA

Chapter 2

Applying Coaching Practices to Leadership and Team Management Learning in Computer Science: A Practical Experience.....	18
---	----

Esperanza Marcos Martínez, Rey Juan Carlos University, Spain

Juan M. Vara Mesa, Rey Juan Carlos University, Spain

Verónica A. Bollati, Rey Juan Carlos University, Spain

Marcos López-Sanz, Rey Juan Carlos University, Spain

Section 2Encouraging Collaborations and Teamwork*Chapter 3

Towards an Understanding of Collaborations in Agile Course Projects	36
Pankaj Kamthan, Concordia University, Canada

Chapter 4

Developing Communities of Practice to Prepare Software Engineers with Effective Team Skills	52
Ann Q. Gates, The University of Texas – El Paso, USA
Elsa Y. Villa, The University of Texas – El Paso, USA
Salamah Salamah, The University of Texas – El Paso, USA

Chapter 5	Encouraging Teamwork, Web 2.0, and Social Networking Elements in Distance Learning	71
	Mirjana Ivanović, University of Novi Sad, Serbia
	Zoran Budimac, University of Novi Sad, Serbia
	Zoran Putnik, University of Novi Sad, Serbia
	Živana Komlenov, University of Novi Sad, Serbia

Section 3 Supporting Communications

Chapter 6	From Textual Analysis to Requirements Elicitation	92
	Marcel Fouada Ndjodo, University of Yaounde I, Cameroon
	Virginie Blanche Ngah, University of Yaounde I, Cameroon

Chapter 7	Peer Feedback in Software Engineering Courses	111
	Damith C. Rajapakse, National University of Singapore, Singapore

Section 4 Improving Soft Skills

Chapter 8	Engaging Software Engineering Students with Employability Skills	123
	Jocelyn Armarego, Murdoch University, Australia

Chapter 9	Practicing Soft Skills in Software Engineering: A Project-Based Didactical Approach	161
	Yvonne Sedelmaier, Coburg University of Applied Sciences and Arts, Germany
	Dieter Landes, Coburg University of Applied Sciences and Arts, Germany

Chapter 10	Controlled Experiments as Means to Teach Soft Skills in Software Engineering	180
	Marco Kuhrmann, Technische Universität München, Germany
	Henning Femmer, Technische Universität München, Germany
	Jonas Eckhardt, Technische Universität München, Germany

Chapter 11	Developing Personal and Professional Skills in Software Engineering Students	198
	Lynette Johns-Boast, Australian National University, Australia

Chapter 12

Project-Based Learning: An Environment to Prepare IT Students for an Industry Career..... 230

*Luis M. Alves, Instituto Politécnico de Bragança, PortugalPedro Ribeiro, Universidade do Minho, PortugalRicardo J. Machado, Universidade do Minho, PortugalChapter 13

Experiences in Software Engineering Education: Using Scrum, Agile Coaching, and Virtual Reality 250

*Ezequiel Scott, ISISTAN (UNICEN-CONICET) Research Institute, ArgentinaGuillermo Rodríguez, ISISTAN (UNICEN-CONICET) Research Institute, ArgentinaÁlvaro Soria, ISISTAN (UNICEN-CONICET) Research Institute, ArgentinaMarcelo Campo, ISISTAN (UNICEN-CONICET) Research Institute, ArgentinaChapter 14

A Project-Based Introduction to Agile Software Development 277

*Marc Lainéz, Agilar, BelgiumYves Deville, Université Catholique de Louvain, BelgiumAdrien Dessy, Université Catholique de Louvain, BelgiumCyrille Dejemeppe, Université Catholique de Louvain, BelgiumJean-Baptiste Mairy, Université Catholique de Louvain, BelgiumSascha Van Cauwelaert, Université Catholique de Louvain, BelgiumSection 6*Engaging Classroom Games*Chapter 15

ECSE: A Pseudo-SDLC Game for Software Engineering Class 296

*Sakgasit Ramingwong, Chiang Mai University, ThailandLachana Ramingwong, Chiang Mai University, ThailandChapter 16

Teaching Software Engineering through a Collaborative Game 310

Elizabeth Suescún Monsalve, Pontifical Catholic University of Rio de Janeiro, BrazilAllan Ximenes Pereira, Rio de Janeiro State University, BrazilVera Maria B. Werneck, Rio de Janeiro State University, Brazil

Chapter 17

Digital Home: A Case Study Approach to Teaching Software Engineering Concepts 333

*Salamah Salamah, The University of Texas – El Paso, USAMassood Towhidnejad, Embry Riddle Aeronautical University, USAThomas Hilburn, Embry Riddle Aeronautical University, USAChapter 18

Incorporating a Self-Directed Learning Pedagogy in the Computing Classroom: Problem-Based Learning as a Means to Improving Software Engineering Learning Outcomes 348

*Oisin Cawley, The National College of Ireland, IrelandStephan Weibelzahl, The National College of Ireland, IrelandIta Richardson, University of Limerick, IrelandYvonne Delaney, University of Limerick, IrelandSection 8*Meeting Industry Expectations*Chapter 19

Bridging the Academia-Industry Gap in Software Engineering: A Client-Oriented Open Source Software Projects Course 373

*Bonnie K. MacKellar, St. John's University, USAMihaela Sabin, University of New Hampshire, USAAllen B. Tucker, Bowdoin College, USAChapter 20

Teaching Software Architecture in Industrial and Academic Contexts: Similarities and Differences 397

*Paolo Ciancarini, University of Bologna, ItalyStefano Russo, University of Naples Federico II, ItalySection 9*Using Open-Source Tools*Chapter 21

Learning Software Industry Practices with Open Source and Free Software Tools 414

Jagadeesh Nandigam, Grand Valley State University, USAVenkat N Gudivada, Marshall University, USA

Chapter 22

Incorporating Free/Open-Source Data and Tools in Software Engineering Education 431

Liguo Yu, Indiana University South Bend, USA

David R. Surma, Indiana University South Bend, USA

Hossein Hakimzadeh, Indiana University South Bend, USA

Section 10Adopting Digital Learning*Chapter 23

Improve Collaboration Skills Using Cyber-Enabled Learning Environment 443

Yujian Fu, Alabama A&M University, USA

Chapter 24

Applying Online Learning in Software Engineering Education 460

Zuhoor Abdullah Salim Al-Khanjari, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman
